

Buying Contact Lenses in the UK

There are over 3 million people buying contact lenses in the UK. With a majority of them placing their orders online, it's best if you find out the best solutions for your purchase. Most people choose between a UK based contact lens retailers or buy one from a US based company. The benefits and downfalls for each option are many.

Some benefits of buying your contact lenses from a UK based retailer include quick shipment, familiarity with your needs, and ease of returns. For obvious reasons, most UK based retailers can get your order to you in a just a couple of days while US based retailers can take as much as 3 weeks for your product to arrive. UK based sellers are also much more familiar with the types and styles of lenses sold in the UK. If you have a problem with your order, the easy return policy by most UK retailers make it a simple process to get the problem corrected whereas US based retailers may take a while and/or require a much higher expense for return shipping fees.

If you decide to order from a US based internet contact lens retailer, you could realize other benefits such as lower prices, wider selections, and easy to navigate websites. Most US based operations have a bigger client base which allow them to offer low prices in comparison to some UK based retailers. You'll also be able to find a much wider selection of contact lenses and accessories from US contact lens companies. US websites seem to be more advanced in their site features, navigation, and looks. This leads to a much more pleasant online buying experience.

Essentially, ordering contact lenses in the UK or US have good points and bad so please choose wisely when picking your contact lenses retailer of choice.

About the Author

Jerry McCormack orders his contact lenses in the UK. After years of wearing glasses, Mr. McCormack was finally fitted for contacts in 2003.

Source: <http://www.healthcrazed.com>